Seat Sale for High School Chorus Play Is Heavy; Few Left

One of the heaviest seat sales in the history of Connellsville High School took place this morning at the store of C. Roy Hartzel when reservations for the performance tonight began. For more than two hours a string of persons filed through the store to secure seats. By noon the auditorium was practically sold out and it was expected there would be only a few general admissions left for sale at the door tonight.

The play this year is "The Charm School," a three-act comedy in three acts. Sixteen characters are represented by members of the senior class. J. H. Lehr of the faculty coached the performers. The curtain will rise at 8:10 o'clock.

Tomorrow evening the class play exercises will be held. Admission will be by ticket only. These have been given to members of the graduating class. In past years the doors have been thrown open to the public after ticket holders were admitted, but each commencement the graduation class has increased in number until practically the capacity of the auditorium is taken up by tickets issued for the parents and relatives of these young people. For that reason admission will be by ticket only this year.

On Friday afternoon, following the issuance of the final report cards in the schools, the exercises will be repeated for the school children.

Card of Thanks. Mr. and Mrs. George Swallow and family of the West Side desire to thank all their neighbors and friends who so kindly assisted them during the death of their beloved daughter and sister, Ethel Mae Swallow. Arguments Settled Your Way.

A check stub, plus the cancelled check that goes with it, is proof of payment that will settle all doubt in your mind—and that of anyone else with whom you have done business. A checking account with this strong bank settles arguments your way, does away with the "lost receipt nuisance," saves countless steps with the aid of Uncle Sam's postal service, and keeps your cash safe in the bank. The Citizens National Bank will be glad to talk it over with you, at any time.

Tempest Tossed.

A sailor's life is bound to be a life of stress and fury. It is tempestuous on the sea. And worse in the grand jury.

The One Exception.

The life of a man in "your high position" should be as an open book. "I am perfectly willing," replied Senator Ferguson, "to acquiesce the public with every detail of my private history—except my daily golf scores."

MORE POWER TO HIM!

"My boy, you can't support my daughter in the style to which she is accustomed."

"I don't intend to, sir. If I can't make her a credit to her sex I'll throw up the job and tell my troubles to a lawyer."

"Good hand, my boy. I wish some chap like you had gotten hold of her mother about 20 years ago."

Birds Always Busy.

All through the winter months our forests are peopled, too, after trees, by nuthatches, titmouses, creepers, hawks and woodpeckers for eggs and other hibernating forms of insects, says the American Forestry Magazine. As spring advances, as buds open, as tiny caterpillars and grubs emerge from the eggs, come the hosts of arboreal birds—sparrows, thrushes, warblers and others—sweeping through the woods in migration. Under normal conditions they destroy something like 99 per cent of the tiny caterpillars hatching upon the external parts of trees before these caterpillars become large enough to attract notice.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, MAY 31, 1932.

TO WHOM THE DAY MEANT MOST.

The persons who today feel most satisfied with themselves as a result of their observance of yesterday's holiday are not those who spent the whole of it in recreation, not those who forgot the sacred object and purposes of the day and devoted their time and energies to seeking pleasure for themselves and immediate friends, not those who stayed close at home all day to finish some delayed or incomplete task, not those who were so much occupied by their own interests or diversions that they neglected

taking some part in the exercises which make Memorial Day a day of

of sad pleasure but, with a day looked forward to with much expectancy for weeks preceding.

Those who today feel that the observance of Memorial Day of 1932

was quite the most fitting Conneltsville and vicinity has ever witnessed those to whom the day was really stimulating in having changed the current of their thoughts from the more selfish concerns of life or trade to giving an opportunity for noble sentiments to take the place of sordid planning; those who are made a little more sure of their Americanism a little more ardent in their patriotism, a little stronger in their love of country, a little more appreciative of the service and sacrifice of its defenders, and a little more ready to do their honors, these are the persons who today are glad that those who did not do or experience these things.

The former service men who marched to the several cemeteries, the citizens who stood with bare heads

as the massed colors and the parade column passed, and all persons who placed flowers on the little green tablets where sleep the soldier dead,

were conscious of having discharged

a duty to both the dead and the living,

hence today have that satisfaction

which occasions serene contentment

for what they did in observance of the

"Sabbath of Memory."

Beside the empty joys experienced by others who sought different ways of observing the day, the comfort of those who yielded to the urge of the pleasure and abiding as always follows the discharge of a privileged duty. Those who so observed it are

"The question for them to decide for themselves is as to who will be better off in the end—the men who are drawing pay envelopes now, or the men who are refraining from work in the hope of getting larger pay envelopes, some time in the future, the hope being based upon a most uncertain contingency."

Certainly it is time to give serious thought to the answer that is to be given to this question.

The Freight Rate Cut

Philadelphia Ledger

The 10 per cent cut in freight rates,

effective July 1 should result in a slow, gentle and easy stimulation to industry and directly and indirectly help the recovery of business. It will not, however, help agriculture. It will not materially lower the cost of fuel nor help the building industry.

Agriculture has been needing help and has been vocal about its needs.

Building has been gathering headway

all over the country, but its revival

has been slowed up by high transportation charges.

All the help the farmer is to get has come months ago. The new rates will not touch his product. Coal, iron steel and building material get no more and no less reductions than any other commodity.

The cut will have little effect politically. As an average slash it may be deep enough, but it fails to soothe the sore spots. The farmers demand an expected special consideration and did not get it. The industries that need help most get no more than any of the others.

A 10 per cent rate cut will help;

but, on the other hand it will hurt

a long list of roads that are still in the financial doldrums. Furthermore,

Wagon Mines Are Boosting Production In West Virginia

CHARLESTON, May 31.—Wagon

mines are contributing their quota to the increasing production in West Virginia, although it is only within the last few weeks that the mines in this class have been able to resume operations after a long suspension. Even with an increasing demand it was not possible to operate until the price rose to a sufficient level to cover the higher operating costs than obtain at the average mine. Under the spur of higher prices, however, coal many of the smaller mines without sidetracks have begun producing again and many trucks are in operation hauling coal to cars to be loaded.

Conditions in the market and directly connected with the strike are decidedly encouraging to the smaller mines, because with all the larger mines in northern West Virginia, it least, in idleness there are enough

open top cars available to handle their output. In fields where the larger plants are operating there is less activity among the plants without sidings and hence activity among these mines is confined to northern

West Virginia.

Under conditions resembling those at present prevailing the wagon lines have been known to produce as much as 1,000,000 tons a year. Production at such mines is not at so high a rate at present but the output is being rapidly increased.

Girls! Buttermilk Creates Beauty Overnight

The first application of Howard's Buttermilk Cream will astonish you. It creates beauty almost like magic. But the most wonderful thing about it is the fact that while it turns the roughest complexion to the most beautiful, it also makes red and rough hands or arms snowy white. Yet there is not the slightest sign of its use. It actually vanishes from sight and the most hated atmosphere will not produce the least shininess or greasiness of the skin.

It is absolutely harmless and will neither produce nor stimulate the growth of hair. Furthermore you will find it the most perfect base for powder. Within 24 hours this wonderful combination called Howard's Buttermilk Cream will work a marvelous transformation. If you cannot obtain locally send 10 cents (either in stamps or for generous trial package of both Cream and Soap) Howard Bros. Co., Buffalo, N. Y.—Advertisement

SCOTT SAYS WORK IS NOW EASIER TO DO

Three Years of Worn Nerves and Stubborn Stomach Trouble Were Entirely Ended by Taniae and He's Now on Job Every Day.

"The best move I ever made was when I got Taniae," said William Scott, 325 Greenfield Ave. Pittsburgh, Pa.

"My appetite was so poor I had to force myself to eat and nearly every meal I ate for three years caused cramps, and gas until I suffered no end of misery. My nerves were worn out, I only got a little sleep at night, and my work got harder all the time. Often I couldn't do anything."

Well, I decided to try Taniae, and it has done me a world of good. I eat three big meals a day sleep soundly eight hours a night, and my nerves are steady as a rock. My work is much easier and I'm on the job every day feeling fine. Taniae is just great. Taniae is sold by all good druggists.—Advertisement

Half Million Tons Of Anthracite Are Taken From Rivers

HARRISBURG, May 31.—Nearly a half million tons of coal valued at $697,200 were recovered in river coal operations in three Pennsylvania streams during 1921. A summary of the industry during the year made public here by James P. Woodward, secretary of Internal Affairs, shows that 476,400 tons of coal were reclaimed in seven counties.

The gradual falling off in the operations in recent years is disclosed in a comparison with 1920 when 551,100 tons valued at $814,700, were recovered. Dauphin county last year led in the amount reclaimed, the tonnage production totaling 247,747 with a value of $307,700. Other counties in which operations were carried on were Berks, Columbia, Luzerne, Montour, Northumberland and Schuylkill.

The summary shows that 49 concerns were engaged in the business during the year, giving employment to 258 persons. Wages paid amounted to $250,000 and the capital invested in the industry was $954,000.

The coal operations are carried on in the Susquehanna, Schuylkill and Lehigh rivers which pass through the anthracite coal regions and from these regions carry down quantities of fine coal which accumulate along the river bed. The recovery of the coal is carried on by means of dredges and pumps.

Health the Secret of Attraction.
Women of today depend a good deal upon the modern modiste and a knowledge of the cosmetic art to make them attractive. Too often there exists beneath it all a suffering woman whose nervous laugh or forced smile covers a pang of agony caused by some feminine ailment. To such a woman Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will bring health and a happy relief from her suffering that will make her far more attractive than costly gowns and cosmetics.

For nearly 50 years American women have relied upon this root and herb medicine to relieve their ailments.—Advertisement

Cokers Split Double Bill With Grays; Win Morning Clash, Lose in Afternoon

First Contest Finds Independents Swinging Bats Accurately.

SOME HEAVY HITTING

The Connellsville Independents divided a double bill with the Homestead Grays yesterday, taking the morning game 6-3 and dropping the afternoon clash, 3-2. The morning contest was saved only when the Independents out of a ninth inning rally of the colored team while they maintained a one run lead. In the afternoon the visitors seemed to get the greater share of the breaks, a trait which they have always had when playing here, and they capped the game by a comfortable margin.

The Independents got to the Grays early in the opening game, securing a brace of runs in the first frame. Patterson scored on Fisher's triple in the first and then "Hobbs" trotted across when Rittelman singled. The Grays got a tally in the second when Mashaw scored M. Harris with a triple. Shomo came right back in the fourth and scored when Patterson again singled. Corbett raced home when Moody muffed Patterson's drive.

The Cokers held the Grays down for three innings in the afternoon contest but after that the lead began to increase, especially in the last three frames. Connellsville made an attempt to close the gap in the final frame but the best that could be done was a brace of tallies and this was not sufficient.

Dunaway was on the mound during the afternoon and he was replaced in the ninth by Kozar, who had pitched the morning game. Dunaway had his thumb injured, necessitating the change.

UMPIRE'S REJOINER SQUELCHES PITCHER

Moriarty Resorts to Drastic Measures to Curb Hurler.

Twirler Who Pitched Nothing but Strikes Caught Off His Stride and Could Not Locate Plate—Is Given Deserved Call.

Sometimes an umpire is forced to resort to drastic measures to silence a protesting athlete. George Moriarty, American league umpire, was up against such a situation one day last summer.

A certain American league pitcher, who throws nothing but strikes, if you would take his word for it, was doing the pitching. Ordinarily, said pitcher is a mighty hard man to hit. This particular occasion was one of his few off days. He was wild, and when he did manage to get one over the batter would take all kinds of liberties with it. At such times it is always the cue for the pitcher to alibi himself at the expense of the umpire.

Moriarty, who was umpiring balls and strikes, was displeasing the pitcher most of the afternoon. The pitcher managed to win his game despite the fact that the opposing team made eight runs. In the eighth inning, after Moriarty had failed to call a certain batter out on strikes, the pitcher let the world know that he thought the umpiring was sour.

"That is 14 you have missed on me," he yelled.

"How many?" asked Moriarty in a voice equally loud.

"Fourteen!" replied the pitcher. Then in a voice that carried all over the park, Moriarty replied:

"Some one must have told you to say that; you can't count that far."

After Marriage.

"Too many wild women."

"Let the girls alone, brother."

"Huh!"

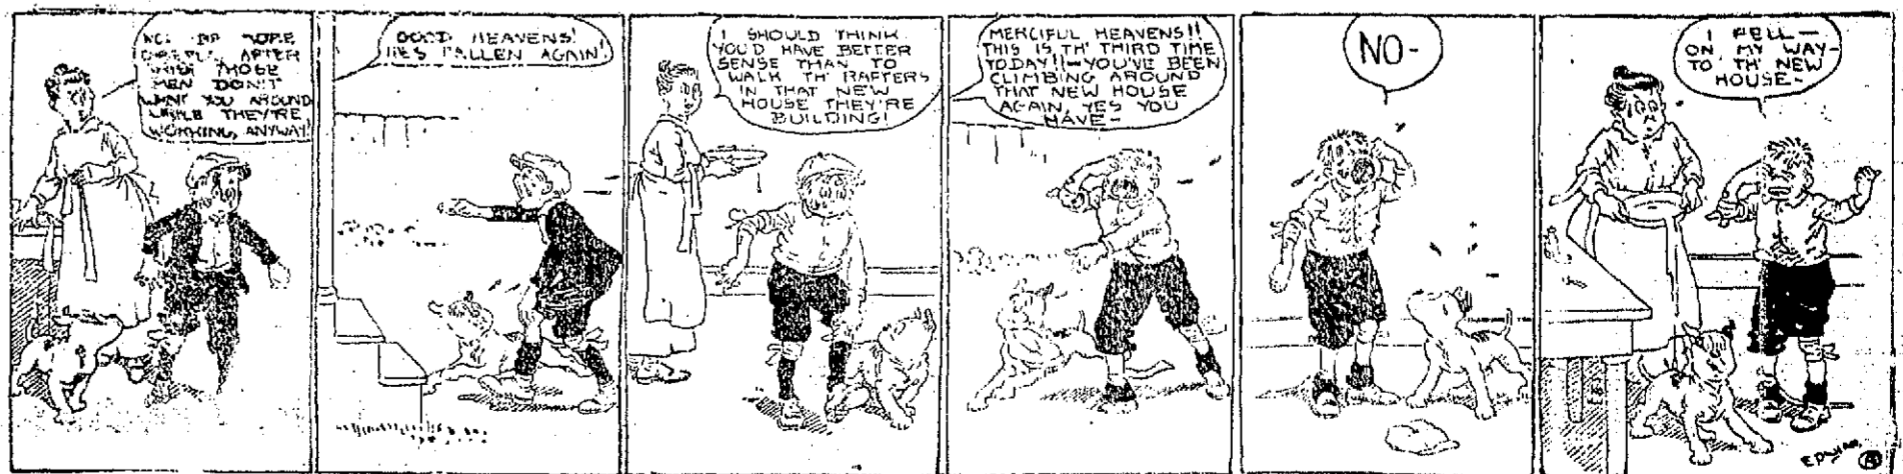

"The wash tub soon turns 'em down."

A Valuable Guest.

Howard—What good are you at a party?

Conard—I can talk to the people who can't sing, and want to sing, and prevent 'em from doing it.—Judge.

"Fight those film-coats on your teeth"

Leading dentists, nearly all the world over, now urge a new method of teeth cleaning. Millions of people already employ it. Yet see the results everywhere today, in whiter, cleaner teeth.

This is for those who don't know it as yet. We offer a ten-day test. You will then see the unique results and decide what they mean to you.

The war on film

One great object is to fight the film on teeth. You can feel it now—a viscous film. It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays. And it forms the basis for dingy, dangerous coats.

Ordinary tooth pastes do not effectively combat it. So millions of teeth brushed daily still discolor and decay.

Film absorbs stains, making white teeth cloudy. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acids. It holds the acids in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Film constantly breeds germs. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Thus most tooth troubles are now traced to film.

How to fight it daily

Dental science has now found two effective film combatants. Able authorities have proved them by many careful tests.

A new tooth paste has been perfected, to comply with five modern requirements. The name is Pepsodent. These two great film combatants are embodied in it.

Careful people of some forty races now employ it daily, largely by dental advice. You will also do so when you know how much it does.

Brings other effects

Pepsodent brings two other effects which authorities now desire.

It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits. They gum the teeth, get between the teeth, and often ferment and form acids.

It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is Nature's neutralizer for acids which cause decay.

Thus every use gives multiplied power to these two great tooth-protecting agents in the mouth.

For beauty's sake

Film removal means prettier teeth. Film-coats make teeth dingy. So every lover of glistening teeth should combat that film daily.

The results will delight you and convince you. Present the coupon for the 10-Day Tube. Start its use tonight.

Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear. The normal alkaline mouth, following every use, is most refreshing.

CHAPTER IV.

Tommy met Ames at noon and handed him the five hundred dollars he had promised.

"Thanks," said Ames, and stuffed the money nonchalantly in his pocket. "Have you time for lunch?"

"I'm going to take it," laughed Tommy. "I'd like to have you come over to the Commercial club with me."

"With pleasure," accepted Ames, and Tommy, with a trace of pride in the distinguished appearance of his guest, walked into the well-appointed business club which he had so recently joined.

He introduced Ames to three of the members, and they strolled through the billiard-parlor on their way to the dining room.

"Hello, John Ames!" greeted Dick Templeton, walking up to the visitor and shaking hands cordially.

"You've deprived me of a pleasure, both of you," complained Tommy. "I had hoped to introduce you."

"Couldn't think of it, Tommy," declared Dick. "I was a guest of Mr. Ames at the Ivy club in New York."

"Going to be in town tonight, Ames?" asked Templeton.

"I hope to remain some little time," replied Ames with a quiet smile at Tommy.

"Fine business!" exclaimed Dick. "Tommy, we must take him out to Mrs. Rushmore's little informal dance, and give the girls a treat."

CHAPTER V.

Within ten minutes after John Ames landed at Mrs. Rushmore's that night, the entire feminine contingent of the most exclusive set in town realized that this would be a lively social season. All the matrons with marriageable daughters threw out nervous tentacles in every direction, frantically anxious to absorb information.

He danced first with Helen Rand, and that lively young lady sparkled and snapped and glowed under the consciousness that the eyes of every girl on the floor was unceasingly upon them. Tommy Spencer danced with that fluffy little Roeland girl, and surprised Helen by flitting out to dance with her. Helen flashed at him a glance of amusement as she passed him in the waltz, but Tommy seemed even more amused than she.

"You waltz like a sunbeam!" observed John Ames, as he guided Helen deftly out of the boisterous circle by Jimmy Al Blair. His voice was deep and musical, and full of vibration.

Helen favored him with her most beautiful smile, and turned her wonderfully effective big eyes up to his for a fleeting second.

"I have a lovely arranged card," he told her. "It only carries one dance with you."

"I'll give you the first extra," she immediately offered.

"Just one extra won't do," he urged her. "I must have more than that." He glanced down at her, his big black eyes alight with eagerness. Yes, she looked pleased.

Tommy scowled for an instant as they whirled by him, and then he turned to that fluffy little Roeland girl with determined ardor.

"You want too much," Helen chided Ames.

"I take pride in my selfishness," he assured her.

Ames visited the factory as Tommy's guest. He inspected each machine, in turn, and he watched the operations of each workman with interest. He paused at a lathe and began to take off his gloves.

"That's a bad belief you have on your tongue," he told the workman. "It's too blunt, and to get a proper slice with it you must hold it too nearly at right angles. One of these days you'll strike a particularly tough knot, and you'll get that handle on your chin."

The workman grinned sheepishly. "Let me try it a minute," suggested Ames, and took the tool from him.

"You could work faster and with less expenditure of energy if your tools were in proper condition," he commented.

"He knows his business," admitted the leg-turner. "He's the boy who wants to come in and remodel the factory. He wants five hundred bones a month to start with."

"Lasset had better be a sport and spend the money. Something ought to be done. I've got five shares of stock that hasn't paid a dividend for ten years."

The tool grinder gave way to Ames and Tommy with hopeful interest. "Tommy, here is one machine which is too important to monkey with. To begin with, there should be automatic reals to produce the proper bevel in the grinding. I can tell by the sound of the plazer in there that the plazer knives are not cutting at the proper angle."

"That's what you told me last week, didn't you, Billy?" asked Tommy.

"Lasset said the firm had made a quarter of a million chums with the heels around on these wheels," remarked Billy with contempt.

Brinley came through the shop to the grinding room, looked in at the door with a scowl at Ames and Tommy, and went away. Presently a boy came back. Ames was in the engine room listening, with a frown, to an annoying little click in the governor.

"Mr. Lasset wants to see you right away," announced the boy to Tommy.

"Go as far as you like, Ames," invited Tommy. "I'll be back in a few minutes."

Tommy went into the office, and found Lasset in a snarling frame of "You have to get your friend Ames out of here, and keep him out," he ordered.

"Mr. Ames is a stockholder," returned Tommy, coming around in front of Lasset's desk where he could talk directly at his face. "I gave him a share of stock."

"That's your lookout," snapped Lasset. "The fact that he's a stockholder, however, doesn't give him the right to come in here and disturb the men."

Half of them have knocked off work and are standing around, with their tools in their hands, talking. How do you expect Brinley to preserve discipline?"

"I don't," answered Tommy. "I'm going to fire Grinley at the same time I get rid of our clumsy old machinery."

"You're going to fire him!" snorted Lasset.

"That's what I said," insisted Tommy, laying his fist gently but firmly on the manager's desk. "Now, look here, Lasset. I'm going to talk to you like a Dutch uncle. Will you, or will you not, employ Ames to remodel this factory?"

"Certainly not!" shouted Lasset.

"Then I will!" declared Tommy. "You got me into this concern under the impression that I couldn't be any trouble, because I didn't know anything. In that far you were right; but you didn't take into consideration the fact that maybe I could learn."

"I'm coming into the next stockholders' meeting prepared to fire you and Brinley, and then I'm going to run this factory myself. I've discovered that I like the churn business better than billiards."

Coal Strike Causes Decrease in Number Of Mine Fatalities

WASHINGTON, May 31.—The effect of the coal strike is clearly shown in the decreased number of fatalities in the coal mines of the United States in the month of April. 72 accidental deaths having been reported to the Bureau of Mines as compared with 164 during the same month last year. The figures are a natural result of the closing down of many mines throughout the country.

All of the 72 fatalities were at bituminous mines, while of the 164 fatal accidents in April a year ago 55 were at the anthracite mines in Pennsylvania and 109 at bituminous mines throughout the country. The fatality rate for April, 1932, was 4.36 per million tons of bituminous coal mined, based upon an output of 15,780,000 tons. No anthracite coal was produced during the month except about 24,000 tons of steam sizes dredged from the rivers. For April, 1931, the fatality rate was 3.36 for bituminous mines, 7.14 for anthracite mines, and 4.65 for both classes of mines combined. The production in April, 1932, was 2,530,000 tons bituminous and 7,703,800 tons anthracite.

Reports made to the Bureau of Mines during the past nine years show that the month of April has averaged 225 fatalities with an average production of 41,529,000 tons of coal, indicating a fatality rate of 5.36 per million tons mined. For bituminous mines alone, the one-year rate for April was 5.05 while for anthracite mines it was 6.57. The bituminous rate for April, 1932, while higher than for the same month last year, is lower than the average for that month during the past nine years.

During the first four months of 1932, 648 coal mines have lost their lives by accidents in the mines, as compared with 658 during the corresponding period last year. These figures represent fatality rates of 3.81 and 4.13 respectively, for each million tons of coal produced. If the anthracite figures for April of both years be excluded, the first four months of the present year show a fatality rate of 3.89 per million tons as compared with 3.93 for the same period a year ago. The fatality rate from gas and dust explosions is more than twice as high as that for the first four months last year or for the entire year, 1931. All of the other main causes of accidents, however, show reduced fatality rates, particularly in the number of fatalities due to explosives and electricity.

No large disasters occurred during April; no single accident killed as many as five men.

Coal Loadings Increase.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 29.—Coal loadings to the bituminous fields of West Virginia increased 106,100 tons during the past week over the week ending May 20, according to figures announced today by the West Virginia Coal Association.

THE SOISSON.

"THE WONDERFUL THING," a First National picture, with Norma Talmadge in the leading role, is being shown today. Miss Talmadge has done many fine things but it is doubtful if anything ever done before will be quite as generally liked as "The Wonderful Thing."

She plays the role of Jacqueline Boggs, whose father is the Hog King of America. She has been reared in a French convent, and during a visit to England she falls in love with Donald Manerby, the eldest son of a very aristocratic but impoverished English family. Donald, despising himself as a cad, marries her because her money is essential to keep his younger brother out of a disgraceful scrape. She has an ideally happy time until she learns that her husband has married her for her money. Donald, however, has learned to love her devotedly, and the scene, mentioned before, in which she tells him she is leaving him, is as strong dramatic and emotional as anyone could wish to see. That the story comes to a happy ending is to be expected, but the ending is decidedly clever.

Mrs. Lydie Hoyt, the young New York society matron, who makes her debut as a screen actress in the production, shows herself talented in the role of Catherine Manerby. Fredrick Harrison Ford is his pleasing self as Donald Manerby.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"THE WORLDLY MADONNA," the feature picture today and tomorrow, presents Clara Kimball Young in a dual role. Glowing tribute was paid to Miss Young after the showing for her extraordinary appreciation of two widely different characters the play demanded. From the haggard-faced, dissipated cabaret singer to the sweet-faced nun in the same scene in wonderful double exposure effects, Miss Young performed what critics say to be without question as fine a delineation as either stage or screen has seen in many years. Where the one character called for a calm, gentle nun, the other necessitated the affections of a drug addict with the attendant facial contortions and physical sufferings of a user of dope. Both characters play in many scenes together where the sharp contrast called for the supreme ability of the master actress.

THE OLYMPIAN.

"FOOL'S PARADISE," which is being shown today at this theatre is Cecil C. DeMille's latest Paramount picture and is delightful in every respect. Filmed with careful attention to detail, this is unquestionably one of the best productions ever made by Mr. DeMille and it is no less pretentious than "The Affairs of Anatol" or any of its recent predecessors. The story deals with the love of an American soldier for a French dancer who later meets an American girl in a Mexican cantina whose love he spurns. Through blindness which later comes to him because of a silly act on the part of the latter girl, he marries her in the belief that she is the French girl. He recovers his sight, annuls the marriage and in his search for the French girl is led to Siam where she proves her worthiness and forces him to seek his former wife with whom he finds happiness. Dorothy Dalton is the American dancer. The costumes, perhaps the most ornately beautiful ever designed for the screen, were created by Claire West, special costume designer for Cecil C. DeMille productions. The twelve dancers appear in reproductions of the famous Temple Dances. "Fool's Paradise" boasts of an all-star cast which includes Dorothy Dalton, Mildred Harris, Conrad Nagel, John Davidson, Theodore Kosloff and Julia Payne. The story was suggested by Leonard Merrick's "The Laurels and the Lady." Tomorrow, Friday and Saturday Thomas Meighan will be seen in "The Conquest of Canaan."

It wouldn't be the same...

"If every woman on the street
Should make a loaf of bread,
They wouldn't be the same at all,"
The Master Baker said.
"Some loaves would burn and some would fall
And some would not be good,
Though each one used the self-same flour
And did the best she could."

And there's no secret about making Clicquot Club Ginger Ale. We tell what we put in it. Other manufacturers know all the ingredients we use. They can buy most of them.

But they don't make Clicquot Club—
any more than a woman with good flour and a recipe can make bread that tastes like her neighbor's bread made with the same flour and recipe.

Ask your grocer to send you a case of Clicquot Club. Keep a few bottles on ice or in a cold place. Serve it any time to anyone. They all like it.
